School has just begun and it's your move. What will you do? You feel like a pawn in the hands of the kings and the queens of the faculty. As you go through the year, it seems to be just a game with too many confusing rules. So until you get used to the pace, you just follow your adversary's move. You start off slowly, making small mistakes, but you soon recover and improve your position.

As time passes, you gain confidence and advance toward a chance for promotion. Problems and setbacks attack you like enemy pieces but are gradually overcome by your combined talents, resembling an efficient grouping of powerful pieces.

Later you are occupied by the dangers and intricacies of the game. You are perplexed by the lack of restrictions and the possible ways of movement. You realize that once you have made a move you cannot go back, and because of that you pause to consider the different alternatives. Then you hurry along your chosen route, realizing that if you delay too long, your opportunity may be lost.

So you think ahead and plan for the future, preparing yourself for any unforeseen events. You combine your talents and slowly press toward your goals. You accelerate your progress through many advancements and checks until you reach the final goal—Checkmate!

Now all is ended and can be brought back only through reminiscences. We hope that you will be able to relive every move and event leading up to the end of the year in this, the 1968 Buzzer.

LITTLE MAN WITH THE BIG BAT was Click McKenna who played right field for the Winston-Salem Cardinals. At this time, "Click" was hitting a .300 average.

While attending Lynchburg public schools, sportsman Wallace A. McKenna, Jr. participated in football, basketball, and track at E.C. Glass High School. He was elected captain of the E.C. Glass football team in 1941. He played on the varsity team for three years and was on the championship team in 1938.

Following his high school graduation in 1942, "Click" joined the Lynchburg Senators. After a year with the team he went into the Army and was stationed in Mississippi. In 1946 he signed with the Lynchburg Cardinals and later joined the Winston-Salem Cardinals. During his baseball career, he played infield and outfield. While playing with the Winston-Salem Cardinals, Mr. McKenna decided that a college education was more important than a career in baseball, so he enrolled in Lynchburg College and graduated in 1951.

In the fall of 1951 he married the former Mildred Noel. They are the parents of two sons, Bill and Wes, and the family shares his interest in hunting, fishing, camping, and sports.

For five years after graduating from Lynchburg College, Mr. McKenna worked with his father in the retail business. In 1956 he joined the faculty of Brookville High School. His contributions to B.H.S. have included organizing the Golf team and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. The isometrics training program that he started soon became our winning wrestling team, this year sporting new uniforms. Each year many firms in the local business community employ students from Mr. McKenna's I.C.T. program. His former students occupy positions of skill and importance in business and industry in the Lynchburg area.

In his eleven years at Brookville, Mr. McKenna has been a dedicated teacher, a winning coach, and a faithful advisor to anyone who came to him.

It is for your contributions and outstanding work at Brookville High School that we dedicate the 1968 BUZZER to you, Mr. McKenna.

Valuable Coach and Teacher Aids Students

Mr. McKenna watches over his fourth period class as they work on problems at the end of the chapter.

"Boy! You should have seen the one that got away."

To succeed in life, as in chess, the right moves must be made. The decision of what are the right moves is left to the individual. A large amount of chance is involved, although much depends upon the characteristics of the individual. Willingness to work and learn is important, as is the knowledge and experience of the student.

The school life of all students parallels the game of chess. First, a pattern is followed, but later strategy and advance planning are required. Even through mistakes experience is gained and, although a battle may be temporarily lost, the way seems much easier next time. Just when things look completely hopeless, a solution to all problems is found, and the student is suddenly closer to his goal.

But unlike the game of chess, which has an equal number of winners and losers, the number of students who succeed is much larger than the number of those who are defeated. The students in this book have already come past many barriers and important decisions. Let us hope they continue to improve and progress until the final goal is reached.

David Duff, Nancy Dillon and Jean Holmes relinquish their weekly allowances to Cathy Walden in exchange for a ticket to varsity football game.

School Life Provides Imaginary Chessboard

The cafeteria staff sets out the daily supply of aromatic delicacies for the Brookville gourmets.

Innocent Eddie Martin refuses to let himself be influenced by the wild gambling pursuits of Wayne Stinnette and Wayne Glass.

As Student Pawns Face Daily Obstacles

Mr. John Moody, left, fills out order blanks for Rodney Jamerson, being measured by Mr. Basham of Bowen Jewelry Co., while Pat Childers waits her turn.

Lunch period by the drink boxes seems to be relaxing for most students.

The chess board is the world, the pieces are the phenomena of the universe. The rules of the game are what we call the laws of nature. The player on the other side is hidden from us. We know that his play is always fair, just and patient. But we also know, to our cost, that he never overlooks a mistake, or makes the smallest allowance for ignorance.

—Thomas Henry Huxley

“Calm Atmosphere” Prevails on Senior Day

Ann Jobe pins corsage on Mrs. Quigley, Senior Sponsor.

Wildly outstretched hands reach for the basketball during the Senior Day game, while David McCoy tries to untangle his fingers from the net.

Ruth Dobyys, Nancy Shannon, and Gail Daniel contemplate the hidden truths of the Seniors' psychedelic painting.

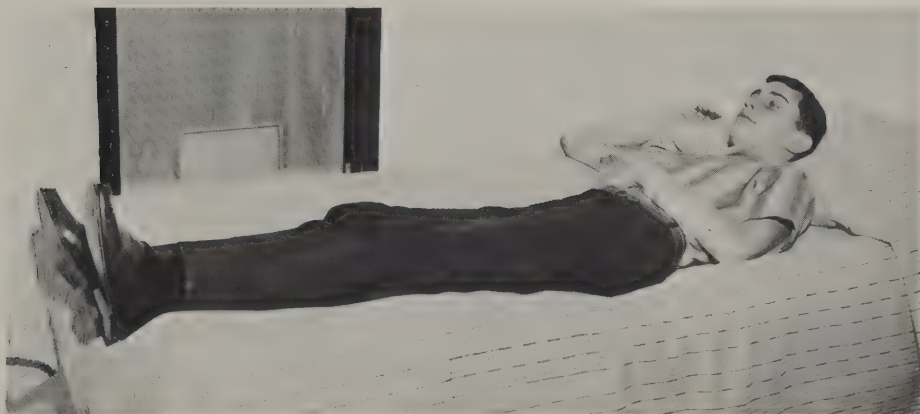

Robert Martin prefers collecting money to sitting quietly in study hall.

Cafeteria and Infirmary Add New Facilities

Robbie Tolley seems rather pleased with his illness which enables him to "legally" leave class.

While having his eyes checked, this student exclaims, "... Numbers! I can't even find the circles!"

Spirit and Enthusiasm Reign at BHS

Lancers and Bees are pitted in an imaginary armed conflict during pep rally activities.

Mr. Bingham looks up as he pauses from his duties in the auditorium.

Mighty Mite, Steve Neal, offers great promise as a future first-rate Bee.

Bees swarm through a crowded corridor as class change prevails upon the Beehive.

The Forensic-Drama one-act play, IT'S EASY TO WIN, won a rating of "excellent" in district competition. Members of the cast were Mickey Lugar, Judi Wright, Jane Petty, Jean Smith, and Steve Price.

Varied Talents Displayed by BHS Students

Mrs. Bersch checks the final manuscript of the book Marsha Williams has written.

Mrs. Smack aids Teresa Cisneros, a student from Mexico, during her first day at Brookville.

George Shropshire was the winner of the magazine subscription contest, having sold over $100 of subscriptions.

Mr. Shoemaker congratulates Brent Williams for being selected at the All-State Band.

Ease the Burdens of the Office and Annual Staffs

Brenda Giles assists Mr. Wright by typing the morning announcements to be distributed to the homerooms.

Embodied with a desire to aid in the functioning of Brookville High, a generous group of girls gave up their free periods in order to offer their abilities to the office. Several of these helpers gave their services to the Guidance Department, while the remainder performed duties in the Main Office.

The assistants in the Guidance Department spent many long hours filing permanent records and carrying messages to fellow students and teachers.

The duties of these office assistants were both varied and numerable. Among these duties were delivering announcements to homerooms, taking telephone messages to students, and typing the morning announcements.

All assistants helped to lighten the burden of the administrative staff as well as gain valuable experience in preparation for an office career.

Seniors Reigned Over Homecoming Activities

Members of the 1967-68 Homecoming Court were Susan Robertson, Ricky Lawrence, Debbie Cregar, Dan Stebbins, Jane Thompson, Tim McCoy, Debbie Coffey, and Peter Fazzi.

October 20, 1967, breezed into full swing as the seniors began their day of festivities with the zany frolicks of the Senior Assembly. During one of the rare serious moments, John Thompson and Linda Ives were crowned Senior king and queen.

Following the assembly, the first, second, and third period classes were under the guidance of senior "teachers." During the first two lunch periods, the juniors and seniors watched and participated in a "thrilling" basketball contest in the gym, and "privileged" juniors later served lunch to "patiently waiting" seniors.

With the winning theme, "Flower Power," Mrs. Eubank's homeroom was transformed into a psychedelic garden.

The school hours ended with the Senior parade, and Mr. Hick's theme for the day, "A Calm Atmosphere," was very effectively carried out.

The real excitement began with the Homecoming game as the Bees played host to Tunstall. The Trojans bowed in defeat as the Brookville team marched triumphantly off the field with a 41-12 victory.

Following the game a Homecoming dance, "Homecoming '67," staged in the cafeteria with music by the Upsetters, marked the end of a momentous day.

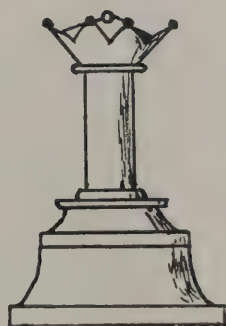

Nancy Gunter was chosen as the senior to receive the D.A.R. Good Citizenship Award.

ADMINISTRATION . . .

Under the Guiding Hand of New Principal, the

Mr. Hicks expresses his usual jovial manner with which he greets everyone.

What would the students at Brookville do without the teachers to guide them and answer their questions? Likewise, to whom do all the teachers turn when they have questions?

That answer is a complex one, as is the job Mr. Robert E. Hicks holds here at B. H. S. for the first time this year. Mr. Hicks, a native of West Virginia now living in Bedford County, has taught math at Altavista High School, seventh grade at New London Academy, and fifth and sixth grades at Evington Elementary. He was also principal of Evington Elementary and then Leesville Road Elementary before coming to Brookville.

A familiar scene here is Mr. Hicks on bus duty in the morning or afternoon or just strolling through the halls for a first-hand look at things. The entire student body is extremely grateful to him for his cooperation with pep rallies and for obtaining a new football field complete with a fence, bleachers, and lights.

Robert E. Hicks, Jr.

B.S., M. Ed., V.P.L., University of Virginia; Principal.

Mr. Hicks points out the Empire State Building on "his World" given to him by a fourth grade class at Leesville Road School.

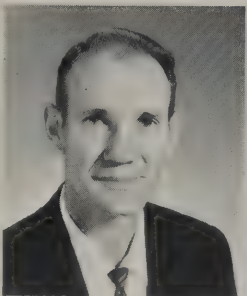

"...what kind of bomb did you say?"

William E. Wright
A.B., M. Ed., Lynchburg College, University of Virginia; Assistant Principal, Guidance.

Herman B. Garbee
B.A., Lynchburg College; Dean of Students, History.

Is Mr. Wright merely conversing over the telephone, or is he actually listening to the lyrical words of Lynchburg's famous "time recording"?

Administration Strives to Make B.H.S. the Best

Mr. Garbee sits in his office and fills out with automatic precision an absentee slip for a returning student.

The enthusiasm and spirit generated by our Assistant Principal, Mr. William E. Wright, resounded through the halls of B.H.S. again this year. He evoked respect and cooperation from the students by his willingness to listen to or help them whenever they came to him. As sponsor of the S.C.A., Mr. Wright was integral in the formation of the cafeteria monitoring system.

In addition to his duties as Assistant Principal, he aided the Guidance Department in counseling the Seniors, a full time job in itself. Such problems as college applications and transcripts, letters of recommendation, and job references were quickly handled by Mr. Wright, whose day started bright and early at seven a.m. when he arrived at school. He has and always will be a trusted guide at Brookville.

One of the friendliest smiles to be seen at Brookville was that of Mr. Herman Garbee, Assistant Principal, Dean of Students and bookstore clerk. Daily, Mr. Garbee makes many difficult but necessary decisions concerning student discipline. However, his best position is at the door of the bookroom listening to students' excuses for being absent or tardy. Although Mr. Garbee faces a busy schedule every day, his goodnaturedness never fails.

Mr. Watson informs a junior student of the possibilities of winning a scholarship in the WRNL Radio Quiz.

Ella B. Hughes
B.A., Sweet Briar
College; Guidance.

Under the direction of Mrs. Mattie Bersch, the Guidance Department worked steadily through the year to solve many problems of the students. Among their many duties, Mrs. Bersch, Mrs. Hughes, Mr. Watson, Mrs. Beamer, and Mr. Wright helped eighth graders decide what subjects to take to prepare themselves for the future, advised Juniors on College Boards and PSAT, and helped Seniors with applications for college and preparation for graduation.

Their experience and interest in students have led many on the way to a successful career.

Mrs. Hughes takes time from her guidance duties to look at some stuffed animals for the Red Cross Club.

Business Students Achieve Skill and Accuracy

Best of everything to you. Good. And I'll see you next year. R. Hutcherson

Mrs. Hutcherson smilingly helps Cecil Bobbitt locate his $3000 error in Bookkeeping.

Mrs. Beverly reminds Typing I student Rhonda Dudley to "read all instructions."

Through the training of the Business Department, students prepared for careers in business and industry. Skill in typing and shorthand gave students the necessary qualifications for office jobs; Bookkeeping prepared students for accounting careers, and General Business acquainted students with all areas of business education.

Students preparing for college were offered Personal Typing and Notehand, with emphasis on the preparation of term papers and reports and the rapid recording of lecture notes.

Mrs. McKenry, Mrs. Beverly, and Mrs. Hutcherson attended the annual VBEA Seminar in "Typewriting Techniques" held at Radford College in October.

Students were taught skills in the secretarial sciences as well as the operation of machines in preparation for a career in the world of business.

English Department Strives to Give Students

Miss Taylor and Barry Ore enjoy working on a crossword puzzle in English 8.

Mrs. Gorman and her student-teacher, Mrs. Tucker, review plans for fifth period English. Janice Parker and Robert Martin seem to enjoy Mrs. Eubank's teaching The Tempest.

The Brookville English Department again strived to broaden the individual's knowledge of his native language. In conjunction with an extensive program of English literature and the fundamentals of grammar, senior students were offered two specialized courses—Creative Writing and Speech and Dramatics.

A valuable innovation in the year's program was a cooperative plan with Lynchburg College, under which student-teachers from the college conducted classes for one semester under the supervision of Brookville faculty members. These students were given the chance to gain knowledge about lesson planning, different teaching methods, and other school procedures before assuming full-time classroom responsibilities.

Sandra M. Thompson
B.A., Longwood College;
English, Journalism.

Knowledge of Both Grammar and Literature

The English Department added to its faculty this year Mrs. Carolyn Austin Eubank and Mr. David Webb, former Brookville graduates, and Mrs. Sandra McIvor Thompson, a graduate of New London Academy.

In addition Journalism was included in the curriculum. Also Linguistics was begun in the freshman and junior English classes, with its being added to the eighth grade, sophomore and senior classes next year. Along with the Linguistics will be added new literature books for next year.

The English teachers worked toward preparing parallel reading lists and securing extra supplementary materials that might help to make the teaching of English more effective.

Elizabeth K. Moffit
M. Ed., University of Virginia; English.

Mr. Webb explains headwords and modifiers to his ninth grade English class.

Students at Brookville this year were benefited in the Science Department with better laboratory equipment and improved safety procedures.

During the summer Miss Daniel attended the Science Institute held at Randolph-Macon Woman's College under the N.D.E.A. Program.

In October Mr. McBride and Mr. Lewis attended a state-wide science meeting at Virginia Beach. There new concepts and different techniques in the teaching of science were demonstrated.

The Science Department also cooperated with Lynchburg College in its Student-Teaching Program. Both Mr. McBride and Miss Daniel served as Cooperating Supervisors in this program.

Checking notebooks doesn't worry Marion Tomlinson who remains calm as Mrs. Wilson records the fateful mark.

Mathematics Provides A Realistic Insight

In the Mathematics Department this year, the emphasis was on learning. Ways were explored to teach students faster and make the learning process simpler. A major change initiated this year was the reversal of the Geometry and Algebra II courses. This was done to help eliminate the need for an Algebra review at the beginning of the advanced Math course taken by seniors. The result was several classes containing both sophomores and juniors.

The subjects themselves did not greatly change. All the "meeces" started with eighth grade math, preparing them for either the Commercial Math courses, arranged to correspond with the Business Department classes, or the first step of the academic courses, Algebra I. All three types of Geometry were taught, with Plane Geometry taking the major portion of the year, while the seniors struggled through the various phases of advanced math.

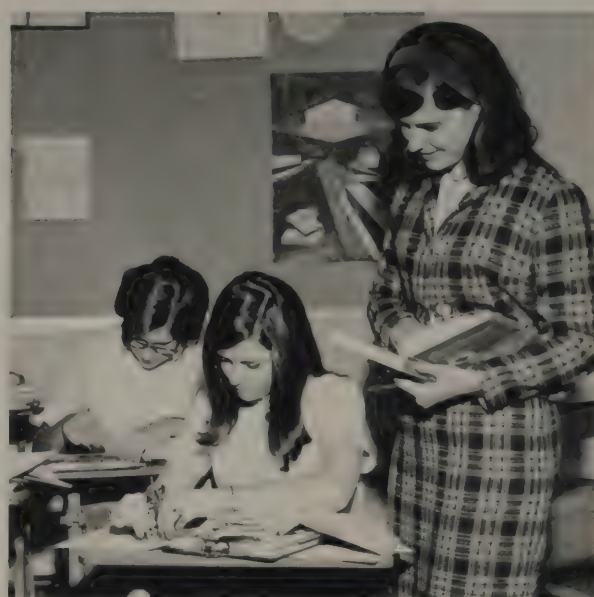

Another important event was the addition of several new teachers, who helped to maintain the high educational standards which have always been outstanding at this school.

Rebecca R. Pennington
B.A., William and Mary College, University of Virginia; Math 8,
Algebra I, Geometry.

Mildred L. Travis
B.S., Lynchburg College;
Math.

Mrs. Pennington aids student in drawing designs with the compass in Geometry.

Mrs. Cuffia goes over last minute details with her Geometry class before a test.

Mrs. Travis and two math students go over problem in changing percentages to decimals before multiplying.

Nancy Cuffia

Seminary, Southeastern Seminary, School of Pastoral Care, N.C.
Baptist Hospital,
Lynchburg College; Math.

Mr. Reynolds takes a moment out for fun before giving his math class a quiz.

The Social Studies Department added to its staff this year three new members, Mrs. Joan Rowles, Miss Lorene Tuggle, and Miss Louise Payne.

For the many students enrolled in the social studies classes, history, economics, and geography came alive under the instruction of its eight teachers.

Mrs. Quigley, Mrs. Shoemaker, and Mrs. Rowles served as cooperating supervisors for the Lynchburg College Student-Teaching Program.

One of the emphasis of the Department this year was the preparation of a parallel reading list of required reading for those enrolled in U.S. History and Government. Mrs. Shoemaker's history classes participated in the Educational Television in American History. The Economics and Sociology classes took field trips to a local foundry. There they saw the phases of economics in action. In the spring the Sociology class visited Virginia State Hospital in Staunton.

Mrs. Quigley represented Brookville at the State Department of Education History Conference held in April.

Mrs. Shoemaker informs worried students, "Yes, our Government test will be today."

Language Department Offers Foreign Studies

The Foreign Language Department, offering Latin, French, and Spanish, had its greatest enrollment this year and participated in the Student Teaching Program of Lynchburg College.

Latin students concentrated mainly on the writings of Caesar and Cicero. Spanish and French students worked on learning to speak their language well. Tape recordings were used to help students improve their pronunciation and understanding of the language.

French and Spanish students were given a chance to visit several countries in Europe during the summer of 1968 on a Foreign Language League program. In this program they accompanied a group of high school students from all parts of the nation and studied the language of the country they visited.

Mrs. Smack shows some of her gaily decorated pinatas to her first year Spanish class.

Mrs. Jackson looks at her students' varied expressions as she assigns Spanish homework.

Fine Arts Demand Talent and Creativity

Miss Cash, art instructor, Latricia Fortner and Karen Craft admire beautiful Christmas decorations made by the art classes.

The Art classes gained a greater part in school life this year by channeling their many activities into projects for the entire school. The lobby was graced this year by a folding screen upon which the work of the students was displayed. The highlight of the lobby decorations was the Christmas tree that was erected a week before Christmas holidays and proved a pleasure to all who visited our school. Producers of plays here at Brookville were also grateful to the art classes for their cooperation in the construction of props and the decoration of sets.

The classes themselves were also quite busy. The first-year students became familiar with the basic foundations of art and the different types of media through which feelings can be expressed. The second-year students began working in oils and also further developed their skills in the fields of art to which they had been introduced the previous year.

Mr. Shoemaker and his music students again presented Brookville and the surrounding community with an outstanding year of musical presentations. The band proved to be an asset at all the football games and an active participant in not only the Lynchburg Christmas parade but those in the surrounding areas as well. After presenting a selection of Thanksgiving music to the school, the Chorus joined the Band to produce a joint Christmas program. The WLVA Christmas Party and the Spring and February Concerts also proved to be highlights of a year topped off by the State Music Festival in Vinton.

Physical Education students were developed physically, mentally, and socially. A varied curriculum of instruction and participation was offered including football, basketball, softball and track for the boys and folk dancing for girls. These taught alertness, self-confidence, and good sportsmanship, while regular and vigorous exercise helped develop speed, strength, and agility.

As part of the classroom instruction, eighth graders as well as freshmen learned the factual aspects of physical training, first aid, care of the body, prevention of human disease, and human anatomy. The sophomores, while studying some phases of health, spent most of their classroom time in learning the fundamentals of safe driving.

Extracurricular activities coming under the sponsorship of the Physical Education Department were intramural basketball, softball, and volleyball. Students with learner's permits were offered a state program of Behind-the-wheel Driver's Education during the summer months, conducted by Mr. Holt.

Mr. Holt advises former student Butch Furniss on practice plays for basketball team.

Mr. Hill points out the various shoulder muscles to his first period health class.

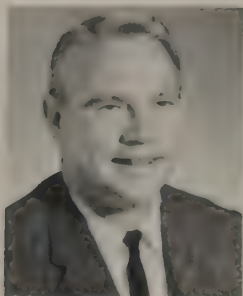

Of the five divisions of the Vocational Department, the D.E. program, under Miss Rebecca Jones, combined class and work experience in preparing students for a career in retail business.

The I.C.T. program, supervised by Mr. McKenna, also combined class and work experience but prepared students for careers in diversified occupations.

The Industrial Arts program was so popular at Brookville that Mechanical Drawing had to be taught at night. These students were taught how to read and draw blueprints and draw to scale. The Industrial Arts students, under the direction of Mr. Lynn Stillman, were taught how to use various machines and make useful items out of wood.

Mr. Cauley's Vocational Agriculture program emphasized rural and farm life, forestry and cattle judging, and the proper operation of farm machinery.

The Home Economics Department added a new member to its staff this year. She is Mrs. Bernice Dooley, who comes to Brookville from Altavista.

Using the motto "Toward New Horizons," Mrs. Morey and Mrs. Dooley stressed the importance of individual achievement as well as teamwork in the mastery of all phases of homemaking.

First-year students were introduced to the fundamentals of sewing and cooking, while second-, third-, and fourth-year students concentrated on the more complicated areas of home management. All students were instructed in poise and skill in entertaining.

At Christmas the girls practiced what they had learned by having an open house, inviting all faculty members to enjoy refreshments and view displays of decorations made in the Home Economics classes. Individual exhibits were shown, as well as class projects reflecting the ideas and skills of many students.

During the spring the girls prepared a fashion show to be presented to the P.T.A. Students from all four levels of Home Economics prepared garments ranging from sportswear to street dress to evening wear. Correct modeling procedure was also studied in order to display the fashioned garments most advantageously.

The young homemakers of today were taught the techniques of being successful homemakers of tomorrow.

Mrs. Morey places the pattern correctly on the fabric before beginning to sew.

From "check in" time at 8:30 a.m. until the end of the school day, the busiest place in the school was the office. Students and faculty members depended upon the secretaries for information, materials, and clerical services of all types.

Mrs. Lynda Purvis, personal secretary to Mr. Hicks, handled all school correspondence, bus and cafeteria reports, and kept all minutes of the faculty meetings.

Mrs. Ella Abrams served as bookkeeper for the school. In addition to her regular bookkeeping duties, she accepted funds for the clubs and kept a record of all deposits and payments. From book rentals to fees for caps and gowns, Mrs. Abrams kept an accurate account of the financial affairs of the school.

The secretaries were assisted each period by the student helpers who shared the chores of answering the telephone, delivering notices to classes, and running general errands throughout the school.

Mrs. Purvis relies upon the calculator to locate an error in her Monthly Attendance Report.

Secretaries Keep BHS Functioning Smoothly

From the expression of amusement, it's difficult to tell whether Mrs. Abrams is making an announcement, or listening in on a classroom.

Library Has Increased Number of Volumes

Our attractive library, located in the center of the school, provided for all of our students access to almost any book desired. Also available were magazines, both current and old issues. Many students came to the library just to relax and read the morning newspaper. It was through the library that films, film-strips, and recordings were ordered for the teachers. Mrs. Feagans not only handled all the business of the library, but also kept track of projectors, screens, and record players. A major part of her time was spent in the cataloguing and shelving of the many new books that were received during the year.

Mrs. Rudder proved to be of great assistance to all students frequenting the Library and Guidance Department.

Book Room Provided Supplies for Students

As the school opened for another year, Mr. Garbee again assumed the title of Dean of Students. With this title, he took care of all disciplinary problems, early dismissals, and late arrivals.

Another familiar scene to those who walked down the hall was a long line of students waiting to see Mr. Garbee for either a late slip or an absentee slip. His efficiency was sometimes hampered by the efforts of some students to change his opinion on certain matters, such as unexcused absences.

In addition to handling absentees, Mr. Garbee also guarded the bookroom. After issuing the books at the beginning of the year, he kept a list of all books that had been turned in to him for the owners to claim. He also taught a class of U.S. History during fifth period. Although these duties kept him busy most of the day, he always managed to find time to sell supplies such as pens, pencils, erasers, and paper to any student that was in dire need of them.

Every book used by students here at Brookville was dispensed from the bookroom by Mr. Garbee.

Varied and Delicious Meals Served Daily

As the throngs of hungry students lined up in the cafeteria this year, they were completely unaware of the work that goes on behind the scenes in order to serve three lunch periods every day. Purchasing and inventory, as well as the actual preparation of the food, kept Miss Arlene Nash, head dietitian, very busy. Her able assistants on the cafeteria staff were Mr. Maddox, Mrs. Beasley, Mrs. Ore, Mrs. Jean Hall, Mrs. Maddox, Mrs. Pat Hall, Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Brown. Also aiding the regular staff in coping with the more than one thousand students were those who gave up their study hall to assist in the serving of the food and generally help out.

The cafeteria staff poses for a picture while preparing to face a mob of hungry students.

Custodians Work to Keep School's Newness

One of the big mysteries around the school this year was the identity of the white-uniformed woman who always seemed to be carrying either a coffee pot or a tray of empty coffee mugs. This was Eunice Griffin, the lady who kept our school cleaned and polished and in her spare time supplied coffee to the teachers in the lounge.

Wherever the heavier jobs were to be done, Mr. Bingham, our day maintenance custodian, was found. Besides operating the larger cleaning equipment, he did many odd jobs and kept the school straight.

After almost all the students and teachers had gone, another group appeared. Our night staff cleaned all the rooms and halls daily and locked up for the night. Only a few hours later, the day staff would return, ready for the start of another day.

QUEEN OF THE COFFEE URN: Eunice Griffin prepares coffee with care to avoid an "urn burn."

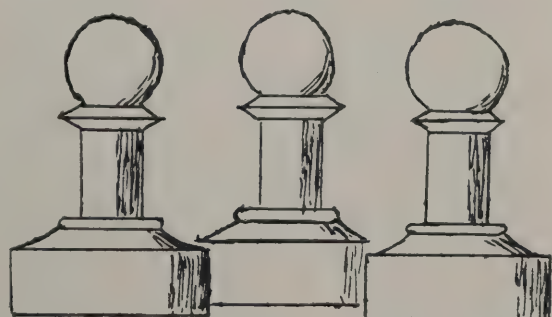

Mr. Bingham perches precariously atop his own stairway to the lights.

CLASSES . . .

Senior Class officers: Jean Holmes, Pres.; Vivian Jones, V. Pres.; Judy Wright, Treas.; and Frances Leftwich, Sec. gather in the dark to discuss the big secret, "How much money do we have?"

As each student enters high school, he looks forward to the day he will reign as a Senior.

The class of '68 stepped into this role of high school life with anticipation of the events of this year which sum up the accomplishments of the foregoing years.

Seniors look back on planning subjects, the working on these subjects, and their participation in sports and clubs.

The Senior class of '68 began the year with preparation for Senior Day and Homecoming on October 20, which were reigned over by John Thompson and Linda Ives as Senior King and Queen.

Meanwhile plans for the future were being formulated with the help of Mr. Wright, guidance counselor for the senior class.

Some of the Seniors took College Boards for the last time in December, while others analyzed the job market to find that job which would be best for them.

Events later in the year included the election to the National Honor Society, the tryouts and presentation of the Senior Play in May, the Junior-Senior Prom, Senior Chapel, and finally Commencement.

Each Senior takes on new and challenging responsibilities, and as the graduating class of 1968 received their diplomas, they looked back on yesterday with memories and forward to tomorrow with plans for the future.

Thirty Seniors Tapped for Honor Society

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY OFFICERS: Barry Walter, President; Dock Smith, Vice-president; Don Brown, Secretary; Brenda Wirt, Treasurer.

On February 20, the National Honor Society induction assembly was held in the auditorium.

Selection of the students was based on scholarship, leadership, service, and character. Mr. Hicks administered the pledge and charge, and Dr. Edward Petty of Lynchburg College was guest speaker.

Projects during the year included the sale of paperback books for two weeks in March and naming a student of the month for the remaining months in the school year. These candidates were nominated by the faculty and voted on by the society. Four members were elected to attend the Western State District Meeting at Northside High School in Roanoke on April 6.

FIRST ROW: D. Crouse, I. Claytor, J. Wright, N. Dillon, D. Yeh, N. Gunter, L. Ives. SECOND ROW: F. Leftwich, C. Albert, J. Holmes, D. Dalton, J. Mayberry. THIRD ROW: C. Dawson, B. Fox, P. Newton, Mrs. Moffit, Sponsor. FOURTH ROW: V. Jones,

Junior Class sponsors Miss Melvor, Mrs. Gorman, Mrs. Campbell, Miss Lookabill, and Mrs. Wood enjoy an informal conference on the stage steps.

The Junior class of 1967-68 found out that a school year isn't just 180 six-hour days. From the first class meeting until graduation exercises, Juniors held an active part in all phases of school life. At that first meeting the Juniors decided to change the jewelers and design of the school ring. In October the Juniors held College Night and were helped with the problem of college entrance. Things seemed to settle down a little after that until the College Boards came in December, the Ring Dance in January, and the Prom in May. On normal days the Juniors discovered a completely different approach to English with such new words as phoneme, grapheme, and immediate constituents. The Juniors proved to be a strong part of all the sports activities. Their school spirit showed through in all their activities and helped spur the teams on through many hard games.

High spirits prevailed over the members of the Sophomore class at the beginning of the year. While seemingly an "in-between" class, they actually were leaders in all Junior-Varsity activities. They envied the Seniors and Juniors whose extra privileges were clearly seen, although the added responsibilities were hidden. They watched in delight the tragically comic antics of the Freshmen and Eighth Graders trying to master the intricacies of high school life. While looking forward to the years ahead, they seemed to have forgotten how recently they faced the same predicaments, racing from the gym to an English class, or attempting to dissect a frog without breathing the formaldehyde. But who could forget these experiences or struggles to prove two angles equal? It seems no one could, but such things fade away quickly from the mind of an active Sophomore.

In the next several years they will probably think back many times on their participation in sports and clubs and realize how they have benefited by their experiences during the year.

With Brookville spirit surging through their veins, the Freshmen stepped into their classes eagerly anticipating and seizing every opportunity to advance their education mentally and physically. Their greatest problem perhaps was the selection of the subjects that would prepare them for the pursuit of their chosen careers and their positions in tomorrow's world.

Led by Blake Myers, President, the Class of '71 was able to take part in many of the extra-curricular activities for the first time. The Junior Varsity Football and Basketball teams and Cheer-leading Squad, as well as all the clubs, profited a great deal from the zeal and enthusiasm of all these underclassmen. They adjusted readily to the fact that they must somehow get all the way from gym to Spanish in only five minutes.

This was the year recognized as the first year of high school for the Freshmen, and it arrived filled with challenges which were well met.

August 28 was truly a day to remember for the incoming eighth grade, for this was the first day of their high school career. They came with a solid and determined attitude toward making their experiences in high school both rewarding and successful. The first several weeks were spent deciding curriculum, meeting new friends, seeing old ones, and the taking of D.A.T. tests.

As the year progressed, the eighth grade did also, meet the new challenges of high school as well as accept the responsibilities of B.H.S. students. While taking an active part in the athletic programs as well as extra curricular activities, eighth graders realized the importance of cooperation and teamwork as the basis for success.

These eighth graders are an important part of the school for they represent its uncertain, yet exciting, future. Will B.H.S. retain its fine name in scholarship, sportsmanship, and service? The answer rests in the hands of our fine eighth grade class.

ORGANIZATIONS . . .

SCA Publishes Student Handbook, Posts

Nancy Gunter, President, led the Student Cooperative Association through one of its busiest years at Brookville. Before school started in August, "Chunkie" and other S.C.A. members worked many hours preparing and revising the Student Handbook so that each student might have one when he entered school. The S.C.A. urged all students to read it carefully.

The S.C.A. members worked diligently with Mr. Wright, their sponsor, recruiting members for the P.T.A. Also, the preparation and posting of the Honor Roll each marking period was done by the S.C.A.

One of the group's greatest assignments was maintaining a clean cafeteria. A large number of students volunteered their valuable services in helping the S.C.A. as cafeteria monitors.

S.C.A. cafeteria monitors receive their identification badges and instructions from Nancy Gunter, President of the Association.

Living up to the name as the most active club in the school, the Red Cross Chapter continued to serve our school, our state, our nation, and our world.

Here at school, each period the Red Cross girls gave up their study halls to assist in the infirmary.

For their Christmas project, the members made favors and sang carols for the patients at Guggenhiemers Hospital. Again at Easter, the patients at Guggenhiemers were entertained with a surprise spring party.

In April the Red Cross Club, assisted by the S.C.A., sponsored the Bloodmobile at Beulah Baptist Church.

This year the group felt that our men in the Armed Forces would enjoy receiving more mail. This idea was put into action when, in January and February, all members went on a spree writing to our servicemen stationed around the world.

Keeping the spirit of serving all mankind, the Club extended its generosity by filling a chest in the International Chest Program. In October the group filled a chest with all sorts of school supplies and personal items such as soap, washclothes, tooth brushes and paste, combs, and other useful items. In addition, a chest was filled with stuffed toys made by members of the club. Both of these chests were sent to orphans in South Vietnam.

Science Club Tours LGH Laboratories

Science Club officers: S. Maxey, D. Neal, B. Sydnor, D. Nichols, J. Fox, M. Maxey.

Dr. Ferré chats with Barbara Fox following his lecture to the Science Club.

The Science Club was a result of the combining of last year's Senior Science Club and the Junior Science Club, also known as the "Atom Ants." Along with their enlarged membership went an enlarged program. In December Dr. Osborne, head of the Biology Department at Lynchburg College, spoke to the club about different kinds of plant and animal cells.

In January, Dr. Ferré, orthopedic surgeon at Lynchburg

General Hospital, spoke on bones of the human body and bone diseases. He accentuated the major points of his talk with a collection of bone X-rays which he had brought from the hospital.

In the spring, the club visited the electron microscope at Randolph-Macon Women's College and toured the Medical Technology Laboratory at Lynchburg General Hospital. A banquet, held in May, ended the busy year.

FIRST ROW: M. Cannady, S. Maxey, B. Sydnor, D. Neal, D. Nichols, J. Fox, M. Maxey, J. Dernoncourt. SECOND ROW: D. Hyder, V. Vaughan, L. Harker, K. McCarthy, B. Sanderson, J. Wingfield, A. Hanks, G. ## Drama-Forensics Club Competes in District

In October the Forensic Club merged with the Drama Club and was named the Drama-Forensic Club.

Much time and emphasis were spent encouraging students to participate in plays and other phases of forensics.

Clyde Heinonen's one act play, "It's Easy To Win", was presented at the District One-Act Play Contest held at Chatham High School in March. Jean Smith, Judi Wright, Jane Petty, Mickey Lugar, and Steve Price composed the cast that represented Brookville.

The District Forensic Tournament was held at Altavista High School on April 1. Students participated in Boys' and Girls' Prose Reading, Poetry, Reading, Public Speaking, and Spelling.

Steve Jones, Judi Wright, Becky Evans and Gary Hill rehearse THE GIFT OF THE MAGI given by the Speech and Dramatics class for third period English classes.

Debate Club Begins Separate Organization

Mr. Wright supervises as Patty Lockridge and Jean Holmes, Negative, and Ann Sowder and Bobby Browning, Affirmative, prepare for their upcoming debates.

With the merging of the Drama and Forensic Clubs, a new club was organized primarily for those students interested in debating. Membership in the new Debate Club was open to students of all grade levels.

The question chosen as the debate topic was RESOLVED: That Congress Should Establish Uniform Regulations to Control Criminal Investigation Procedures.

The team held practice debates at Holy Cross High School, E. C. Glass High School, and Father Judge Mission Seminary. They also presented a practice debate to the sixth and seventh grade students at Brookville Middle School.

The experienced debaters then entered the University of Richmond Tournament and the District Debate Tournament held at Staunton River High School on April 2 and 3.

FIRST ROW: B. Browning, D. Lovell, P. Goetz, B. Fox, N. Gunter, S. Dossett, J. Holmes, S. Dorr, V. Jones. SECOND ROW: J. Larson, N. Wreeden, J. Newton, J. Faust, E. Foster, T. Dunford, Mr. Wright. THIRD ROW: C. Harris, C. Robertson, C. Fulcher, P. Lockridge, B. Brown, A. Sowder.

THIRD ROW: C. Bryant, B. Shouse, H. Rowsey, C. Wood, A. Winnigle.

McConville and Kersey Win FFA Awards

Achieving special recognition in the FFA were Doug Kersey, winner of the Off-farm Occupation Award, and Robert McConville, winner of the State Farmer Degree and Crop Farming Award.

The national organization of the Future Farmers of America consists of high school boys studying all phases of vocational agriculture.

In the classroom, students were taught proper techniques of dairy and crop farming and how to operate farm machinery. Through work in the shop, boys learned various mechanical and practical skills.

Among the class projects that the FFA boys participated in during the year was the float in the annual Lynchburg Christmas parade.

Throughout the year various contests were sponsored in the county, such as crop and dairy judging; and at the end of the year boys were presented with awards for these contests. Other awards were given for on-farm and off-farm activities within the Brookville chapter of the FFA.

Early in the spring the boys filled out applications for the State Farmer Degree. Boys meeting the requirements were presented with this award at Virginia Polytechnic Institute in June. Each year one or several boys are selected to accompany Mr. Cauley to the National FFA Convention in Kansas City.

Through practice drills to learn proper techniques and precautions, the Keep Virginia Green crew, consisting of the FFA boys, were always ready for an emergency call to help fight forest fires.

Monogram Club Brings Joy at Christmas

Christmas decorations made by Miss Cash's art classes were on display for students to see during breaks between classes.

Striving to promote artistic appreciation through creativity, the Art Club once again achieved success. Although special emphasis was placed on individual accomplishment, members were encouraged to merge their individualism in an attempt to intensify school beautification through art. One of their most admired and truly appreciated projects was their Christmas tree, adorned with original and creative decorations. Its mere presence connoted a storybook scene and promoted Yuletide mirth. The club was also contributive in designing posters and scenes for various school functions and activities. In addition, tentative plans were drawn up for a proposed mural in the Art Room. An Art Exhibit, staged in the auditorium and open to the public, was held in early April. Students and faculty alike were urged to participate. A variety of art types were represented and cash prizes were awarded for superior workmanship and future promise.

Annual Pageant "This Land is Your Land"

The History Club Chorus willingly lent its time and skills to not only the play, but two assemblies also.

The Spanish Club, doubled in enrollment, presented lively and imaginative programs to its members this year as they enlarged their knowledge of Spain, Mexico and other Spanish-speaking nations. The highlight of the club's activities was the talk given by Teresa Cisneros of Monterrey, N. L., Mexico. Teresa attended Brookville during the second semester as a special student. While living with Debbie and Nancy Dalton, Teresa's main objective was to improve her English and learn about American living. Two English classes, Sociology, Speech and Dramatics and third-year Spanish were on her busy schedule.

Eight Brookville students planned to visit Spain during the summer of 1968 under the auspices of the Foreign Language League. Janet Larson, Brenda Horton, Becky Bibb, Robin Meyer, Sue Maxey, Tim McCoy, Carter Olinger and Robbie Spencer will study Spanish civilization and language at the University of Madrid for five weeks followed by a tour of Northern Spain. During the entire stay a variety of activities such as a bullfight and trips to Seville and Toledo will be enjoyed and remembered by all.

Latin Club Proves "Latin Lives Today"

The Latin Club officers have an informal meeting to plan the program for the next meeting. Standing and Sitting at the edge of the stage, they are, l. to r.: Doug Mitchell, Helga Leftwich, Dan Stebbins, Randee Perkey, Joe Montgomery, Robin Meyer, and Karen Saunders.

The Brookville Latin Club again presented its members with a well-rounded year of activities. All those in the club enlarged their knowledge, while the club strived successfully to prove that "Latin Lives Today". Monthly meetings included such enjoyable programs as a speech by Mr. Joseph Johnson, a member of the Lynchburg City Council, on "Latin and Law".

The highlight of the year's activities was the Roman Banquet, held on April 20 in the school cafeteria. Initiation of first year students into the club was one of the major purposes of the Banquet, where Roman costume was mandatory. The first year students were sold at auction as slaves and were required to do the bidding of their patrician masters.

The Latin Tournament was also held on April 20 at Randolph-Macon Woman's College. Last year Betty Cauley and Glenda Womack received Honorable Mention in this state-wide competition.

French Club Joins Alliance de Français

FRENCH CLUB OFFICERS: W. Stinnette, N. Dillon, B. Wirt, J. Dudding, and Mrs. Thompson, sponsor.

Enhanced with the mysterious beauty and romance of the French culture, its people, language, and variety of customs, the members of the Brookville French Club enjoyed an interesting and enlightening year.

The mere presence and flowing ideas of the club's new sponsor, Mrs. Swannie Thompson, stimulated an exuberant effect on the club. New members, as well as former members, became engrossed with a search for a broader knowledge of France. As a result, the club made a rewarding forward move in their decision to become a part of Lynchburg's Alliance de Français.

The entire year proved to be a successful one. Each member was able to look back with a sense of self-accomplishment and newly-gained knowledge.

Miss Taylor smiles cunningly as she prepares to lick another identification stamp.

The Buzzer staff began working early in August in order to come up with a bigger and better book. The yearbook that the students of Brookville High are handed each spring is the result of over 10 months of hard work. Many afternoons and weeks of summer vacation were devoted to working on the book in addition to the regular daily class periods.

The Buzzer staff worked with a new sponsor this year — Mrs. Elizabeth Beverly, Financial Advisor, while Miss Edna Taylor remained with the staff as Literary Advisor. Coordinating the work of the staff were Darlene Crouse, Editor-in-Chief, and Paul Eastman, Business Manager.

One of the main features of the '68 Buzzer was the enlargement of the book by twenty pages. The staff also set a new record by selling more advertisements than any previous staff.

We were very proud that the 1967 Buzzer received a high Second Class rating from the National Scholastic Press Association. This rating was only 90 points short of a First Class rating in this competition with over 1,000 other annuals.

In the spring the Buzzer staff journeyed to the campus of Washington and Lee University to attend classes on yearbook work.

Future Homemakers Present Theme,

F.H.A. Officers: Mauri Baschang, Judi Wright, Judy Ballowe, Karen Payne and Sponsors, Mrs. Dooley and Mrs. Morey.

The Brookville chapter of the Future Homemakers of America was one of the busiest organizations of our school. They began the year by acting as host to the District F.H.A. Federation meeting last fall.

Judi Wright received the honor of being elected to McCall's Teen Council for having shown the most improvement in sewing. Ann Mason won the Betty Crocker Future Homemaker of America Award in the local contest.

One of the biggest events of the year was the Fashion Show entitled "Fashions, Fits and Flares," held for the P.T.A. Here the girls modeled clothes that they had made. Sportswear, streetwear, and evening wear were among the fashions that they modeled.

At Christmas the girls sponsored baskets of food and clothing for the needy families in the community.

A project that gave them a special place in the hearts of the faculty was the open house held in the Home Economics Department before Christmas. The faculty members were invited to tour the department and while enjoying refreshments, view the different decorations made by the girls in the department.

The Mother-Daughter Banquet held in the spring was a great success. It provided an opportunity for the mothers and daughters to get together and talk about different subjects.

During the summer the chapter sent delegates to the State Future Homemakers of America Annual Convention held at the Hotel Roanoke.

Band Proves Valuable Asset to School

The BHS Band had its best year since its origin nine years ago. The membership has steadily increased and now stands at seventy-five. Since the band received its new uniforms, along with an all-over improvement, it is now ready and able to compete with any band in the state. Highlights of the year included football shows, concerts, and the Dogwood Festival, and, for the first time, the Virginia Beach Festival. The band has also received numerous invitations to play in other states.

The Club, made up of members who have been in the band for two or more years and have achieved outstanding recognition, strived to create more interest in the band. New members are voted in each year by the upperclassmen. The Pep Band was always ready to play for assemblies, bonfires, and other pep rallies.

Majorettes Show Spirit and Enthusiasm

Quite numerous were the contributions made by one of Brookville's most integral groups, the Majorettes. Under the direction of Meryl Trent, and in coordination with the Cheerleaders and Pep Band, the Majorettes performed spirited and rhythmic routines during the football pep rallies. Later, in the evening, spectators were able to enjoy their well-planned and precisioned presentations at football games. The Homecoming activities were exceptionally impressive. Other additions included the Majorettes' participation with the band in various Christmas parades and, in the spring, the Dogwood Music Festival.

Chorus Presents Two Concerts and

The Brookville High School Chorus remained one of our busiest organizations. The boys and girls showed excellent performance in the many functions in which the chorus took part.

Because of the large membership in the regular chorus, Mr. Shoemaker selected twenty-six students who could read music and understand pitch to form a special choir to sing at the various churches in the area.

During the year the chorus presented concerts to the student body at Thanksgiving, Christmas, and in the spring. In addition, they presented a medley of Christmas selections to the December meeting of the P.T.A. The Chorus again participated in the annual W.L.V.A. Christmas Party.

In May the chorus worked jointly with the History Club to present the pageant "This Land is Your Land."

D.E. Displays Entered in District Contest

The D.E. Club worked on projects the entire year, starting with National D.E.C.A. Week in November. The club members wrote newspaper articles, were on radio programs, and decorated the bulletin board in the main hall, explaining the purpose of Distributive Education and telling how the students benefit from it. At the end of the week the club sponsored a dance.

Then all the members went to work on projects to be entered in the District Contest held in Amherst in March. They prepared Product Information Manuals, Distribution and Career Manuals, and visual displays showing all phases of Sales Demonstration and Advertising. In April, the club members participated in the State Leadership Conference held in Norfolk. They ended their busy year with an Employee-Employer Banquet held late in April at the Colonial Restaurant.

I.C.T. Scrapbook Wins First Place

Under the sponsorship of Mr. McKenna the Industrial Cooperative Training Club conducted many civic as well as school activities. The club provided food baskets at Thanksgiving and toys at Christmas for the needy. Ann Mason was chosen the V.I.C.A. girl student of the year at the District and Regional meets. Phyllis Coleman won two first-place awards at the Regionals and one first-place award at the District meet in the scrapbook and poster contests. Shirley Carwile placed first in Occupational Display at the District meet as did Barbara Clark in the Job Interview Contest. The club also sent several representatives to the State Convention in March at Natural Bridge, Virginia.

Journalism Class Revitalizes the Beeline

TYPISTS . . . A. Garbee, C. Wills, and A. Wilson.

The Beeline sprang to new life this year under the direction of Mrs. Sandra Thompson, instructor of the newly-formed Journalism class. The class provided an efficient staff headed by Co-editors Ruth Bishop and Sherry Dossett. In addition to the staff, the aid of sixteen reporters and several typists was enlisted.

After the Progress Printing Company had been contracted and a goal had been set to publish six issues during the school year, the staff launched a campaign to create and renew student enthusiasm for the Beeline. A subscription contest was held, and Dennis Cash was awarded a copy of the 1968 BUZZER. Free passes to the Fort Drive-in Theater were printed in each issue, and a free carton of drinks was awarded to a lucky winner, drawn after each issue was circulated.

The dual purpose of the Journalism class was successfully accomplished by teaching the fundamentals of newspaper reporting, editing, and management to the class and by providing a better newspaper to BHS students.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes support Ts'ao Erh-Shih and his family in Taiwan.

During the latter part of last year many of the boys participating in various areas of the athletic program at Brookville organized a new school group, the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Mr. McKenna was chosen as sponsor of the group.

The group met every Tuesday morning at 8:30 in the I.C.T. Room for a fifteen-minute devotional. Some of their guest speakers were Canon Greene of England, the Reverend Newton Todd, and Bill Dudley. Often the devotions were conducted by the members of the Fellowship.

Throughout the year the group sponsored school campaigns so that students and faculty shared in the projects of the group by contributing food, personal items, and money to be used in helping those in need.

In addition to supporting a Korean orphan, the Fellowship filled baskets of food and distributed them to needy families in the community at Thanksgiving. Books, canned goods, and personal items were collected to fill Christmas baskets to send to former Brookville graduates now serving in Viet Nam.

Henry Brooks Adams wrote, "A teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops." Long after the teaching process is ended, the influence of an educator's ideas and character continues to be reflected in the lives of all who have studied under the teacher's guiding instruction.

Mrs. Mary Lee Wood has been exerting such memorable influence upon students in the Virginia Public Schools for 27 years, beginning in 1922. After teaching for two years, she left the teaching profession temporarily to devote her time to her family of six daughters and one son. She resumed her teaching career in 1943 at Concord High School, where she taught for ten years.

In 1953 Mrs. Wood joined the faculty at Brookville High School, where she has now completed her fifteenth year of service in the teaching of Latin and History.

Though Mrs. Wood's 27-year classroom teaching career will end in retirement this year, the influence of her teaching and the effect of her life upon the lives of her students will not end here. For, truly, "A teacher affects eternity . . ." and Mrs. Wood's dedication to her profession speaks its own tribute to a job well done.

ATHLETICS . . .

Coach John "Bunker" Hill, Co-Captains Wayne Stinnette, and Mike Moore find time to relax from their heavy practice schedule.

Proud? You bet we're proud! Improving on last year's record of 4-5-1, the Bees this year tallied 6 wins, 3 losses, and 1 tie.

The Bees' first two games were on the road, playing non-district foe Liberty to a 13-13 tie and upsetting the Governors at Nelson County 13-0. In the game of the year, the "mighty Bees" met undefeated Amherst at City Stadium. With the spirit running high, Brookville held the Lancers to a 14-14 half-time score but were unable to contain Amherst as they went on to win 29-14.

On February 22 the Bee's played the first game on the new athletic field, defeating the previously unbeaten Gretna Hawks 7-6 before a near-sellout crowd. The following week the Bee's again played at home, defeating rival Rustburg 20-0. The Bees' winning streak at home was stopped when they played a mighty Appomattox team on a rain-soaked field. The next two weeks found the Bees victorious over Staunton River, 13-12, and senior end Barry Walter scored four touchdowns in helping defeat homecoming foe Tunstall 42-12. Playing their last away game, the Bees upset the Altavista Trojans 17-13. The tenth and final game of the season found Brookville losing a hard-fought game to William Campbell.

Brookville Places Martin, Stinnette, Walter,

The Fearsome Foursome. Clyde Richardson, Dock Smith, Jimmie Fox, and Al Maddox played a valiant role as Brookville's prize fullbacks.

Fullback Al Maddox cuts around a block by Dock Smith as he fights his way to the goal.

Paul Lugar, manager of the J.V. football team, stands on the practice field with co-captains Peter Fazzi and Blake Myers.

The Junior Varsity team greatly improved their record over last year. Playing twice as many games, they ended up with a 5-2-1 record as compared with last year's 0-4 record. They lost only to Amherst and Appomattox and tied Rustburg in several well-played games. While no more than one goal separated them from victory in any of these games, they won several games by a wide margin, as in the games with Staunton River and William Campbell High Schools. Under the guidance of Coach Leonard Frady, co-captains Peter Fazzi and Blake Myers led their team on to success five times. Fazzi scored several touchdowns on long runs and Myers, along with Eddie Tyler, reinforced the team's backfield in the position of half-back. Terrell Sharp was a very strong defensive player in the end position. The offense and defense of the whole team were excellent in all games, and all players showed great promise of becoming the ingredients of a champion varsity team.

Bees Led by Mr. Holt in His Initial Year

captains.

The Bees launched their 1967-68 basketball season on December 1 with a win over the Amherst Lancers on the home court. Senior Carlton Anderson led the Bees with 27 points and 26 rebounds as the team went on to win 64-53. The following night again found the Bees victorious as they edged Liberty 74-71.

On December 8 the team traveled to Altavista where the Bees bowed to the Colonels 57-41. Senior Gary White was high scorer with 20 points in the Staunton River game on December 15 when the Bees lost by 2 points in the second overtime period. The pre-Christmas games were completed as the Bees topped Chatham 69-53 and lost to the Minutemen on Liberty's court 76-49. Brookville played host to the William Campbell team on January 6. DeWayne Snyder rated the scoring honors with 18 points as the Bees bowed to their opponents 80-52. The team's second contest with William Campbell was postponed due to snow and ice, but the rescheduled game resulted in a 64-50 win for William Campbell. Gary White again scored a high of 20 points in the Rustburg contest on Jan. 12 as Rustburg pulled ahead 66-56. Lee Hudson scored 10 points as Brookville outscored the Appomattox Rebels 82-49. Again on January 20 Brookville played on their home court as Altavista won 48-41. All of the players saw action on January 26 as Brookville traveled to Nelson County. David Coleman started as guard as the Bees bowed to Rustburg 52-49 on the BHS court on January 27. The Bees then traveled to Staunton River where they revenged an earlier loss by romping over the Golden Eagles by a score of 62-50. A crushing defeat at the hands of the Lancers marred the schedule with a score of 31-65. BHS then entertained the Nelson County Governors but were defeated 57-64. The Bees finished up the regular season with a landslide victory over Appomattox 82-53 before losing their final contest to Chatham 45-50. The talented Bees went into the tournament seated in 8th place but were nearly able to knock off top-ranked William Campbell losing by only four points to complete the 67-68 season.

Queen Bees Put Together Strong Season

GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM . . . STANDING: Mrs. Bersch, Sponsor; L. Ives, N. Gunter, D. Padgett, L. Blankenship, C. Martin, B. Evans, D. Nichols, P. Lockridge, D. Jones, B. Hubbell, P. Blackburn, D. Almond, V. Vaughan, S. Stalnaker, D. Thompson, K. Bersch. KNEELING: Anita Wilson, Co-Captain; Mr. Frady, Coach; Charlotte Wills, Co-Captain.

The Brookville Queen Bees began their 1967-68 season on December 1 with a victory over Amherst 34-23. Their winning streak continued as the team triumphed over Altavista 36-20, Staunton River 34-22, and Chatham 37-16. The Brookville gym was the setting for an exciting contest with William Campbell as the Queen Bees finished with a one-point lead to win 30-29.

On January 12 the girls traveled to Rustburg to outscore their opponents 34-31, only to be edged by Appomattox the following weekend 44-40. Altavista's second contest resulted in a large-margin victory for Brookville of 57-23, and Nelson County bowed 29-15 on January 26.

Carolyn Martin scored 17 points in the team effort to defeat Rustburg on January 27, but the Rustburg team edged the Queen Bees 36-35.

To finish the season, the Brookville girls defeated William Campbell 39-30, Staunton River 46-26, Nelson County 41-27, and bowed to Amherst 43-36 and Appomattox 46-38. The Queen Bees completed an exciting season with an impressive record of 11-4.

J.V.'s Win First District Tournament

KNEELING: E. Tyler, Mr. Frady, Coach; D. Tucker. STANDING: B. McKenna, M. Dossett, M. Wagman, P. Bowen, T. Wood, J. Shepard, B.

Bryant, R. Haste, B. Myers, C. Williams, T. Sharp, P. McCarthy, M. Dossett.

The Junior Varsity basketball squad, composed of freshmen and sophomores, bettered last year's record and ended their regular season with a 12-2 record. They were beaten only by non-district foes Liberty and William Campbell.

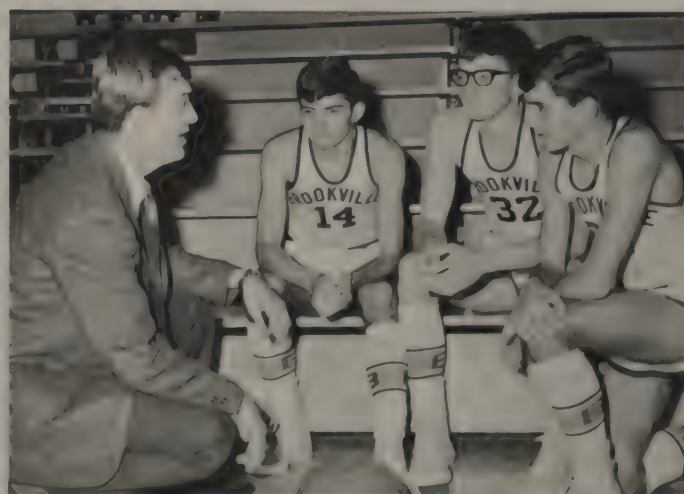

The highlights of the regular season were the two defeats of Amherst County High 48-35 and 71-64 and the revenging of an earlier loss to William Campbell 46-43.

The high scorer during the season was sophomore Mike Dossett with an 18.1 average, and sophomore Johnny Shepard was the leading rebounder.

Led by Johnny Shepard's 21 points, the J.V.'s capped their season by again beating William Campbell and by winning the Group II, District IV J.V. tournament held at Amherst.

Fazzi Leads Eighth Grade Scoring Record

Eighth graders cheer their team on to victory.

Coach Dave Webb's spirited eighth grade basketball team started its season off with a bang and continued to keep its opponents guessing.

Peter Fazzi led the team with an average of 21 points per game and showed great varsity potential as did Jack Brown who showed fine ball handling ability and a 8.3 point total per game. Steve Crandell finished the season with an average of 7.4 points per game as well as dominating the boards with his rebounding.

The team played fourteen games with seven schools in the county and district. Their season's opponents were Staunton River High School, Amherst County High School, Altavista High School, Nelson County High School, Appomattox County High School, and Liberty High School.

Forty promising players turned out to fight for a position on the 1968 baseball team. Coaches Shoemaker and Frady narrowed the team to twenty-three members, including eleven veteran players from the previous season.

The team played eighteen games, nine at BHS and nine away. The opening game of the season was with E. C. Glass on the home field on March 22.

The new lights and larger diamond, plus a much-improved team, drew larger turnouts for the home games. Brookville can indeed be proud of the 1968 baseball team.

Dennis Reynolds plays pepper with Mitch Dossett, Marks Cannady, Dennis Walker, and Jimmy Spencer.

Infielders go through throwing and warm-ups during afternoon practice.

Walter Finishes with Undefeated Record

FIRST ROW: S. Wilkerson, K. Shepherd, C. Richardson, C. Shaeff, D. Clark, M. Fox, D. Jefferies. SECOND ROW: M. Patterson, A. Rife, J. Newton, W. Canody, D. Stallard, J. Bartell, M. Wilson, Mr. McKenna.

THIRD ROW: D. Tassone, R. Wright, D. Inge, M. Carderelli, F. Wood. FOURTH ROW: D. Boyce, B. Walter, C. Ricketts, C. Dudley.

The Brookville Matmen showed great skill and improvement over last year. The team finished its season with an 8-5 record. Six members of the team finished with outstanding achievement. Barry Walter was undefeated in thirteen bouts, ten of them by pins, while Doug Boyce had a 10-2 record and Clyde Richardson had a 10-3 record.

The team participated in the Regional Roanoke Valley Tournament on February 9th and 10th. Barry Walter won the Regional Championship in the 154 lb. class. Doug Boyce and David Tassone won second place in their weight classes, while Clyde Shaeff and Clyde Richardson came in fourth in their classes. The team as a whole won fourth place honors.

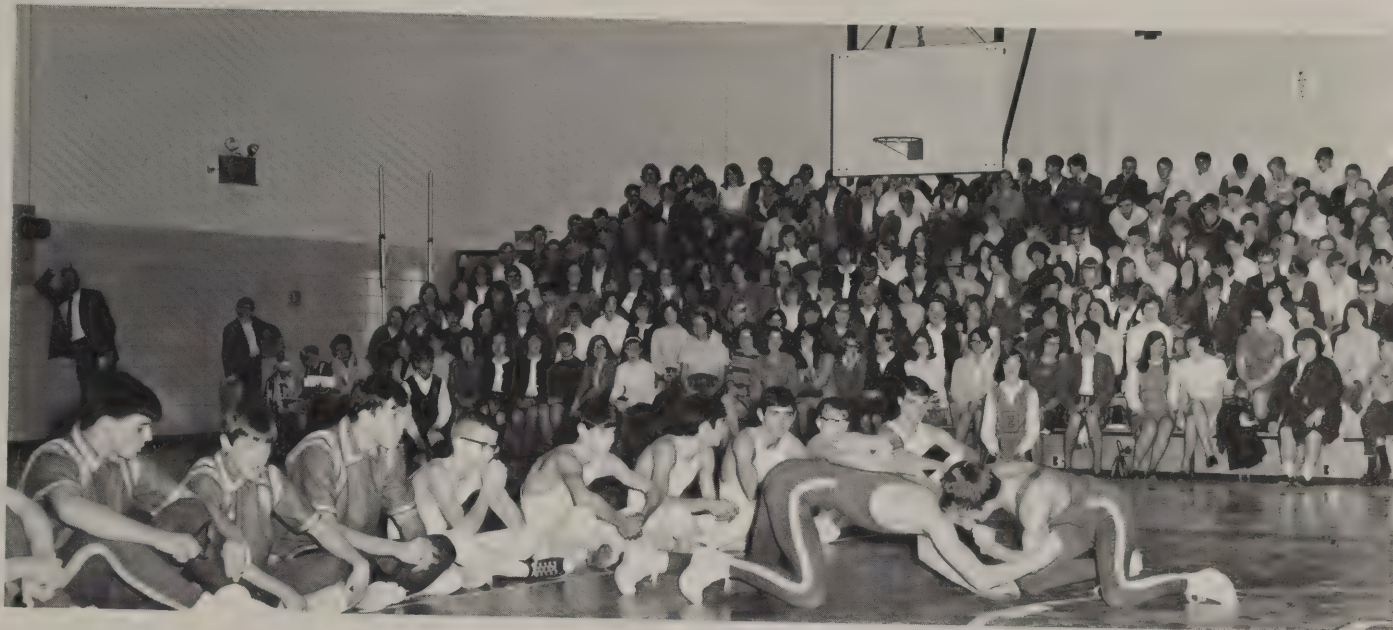

Although appearing to be supervising wrestling practice, Mr. McKenna is actually warily guarding the secret of how to coach a winning team.

Bonnie Hunt, Head Cheerleader

With the zest and gusto of genuine spiritedness, this year's varsity squad boosted the Bee's spirit to its loftiest heights. Despite sore throats, aching muscles, and foreboding weather, the cheerleaders never once slackened their constant efforts and relentless pace. By reorganizing the Pep Club, they gave overly-exuberant students the opportunity both to express and to materialize their vigor.

During football and basketball seasons, pep rallies were anticipated by all spirited Bees. The cheerleaders, majorettes, pep band and various other school organizations combined their efforts to entertain the student body with peppy and well-organized cheers. In addition, the students enjoyed comical skits, zany chants, precision pom-pom routines, spirited jazz, and the rollicking stunts of the "Brookville Bee" himself. The student body was able to do no less than fill the gym to capacity with screaming spirit and bubbling enthusiasm.

Each week this vivacious group decked the halls of B.H.S. with lively, colorful banners. Even the lockers of team members were not overlooked, and inspiring slogans helped to heighten team morale.

The students are truly indebted to the varsity cheerleaders, for they managed to transform a modest school into a thriving beehive, buzzing with an overabundance of school spirit.

J.V. Cheerleaders Boost School Spirit

Jane Thompson

The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders again spurred their teams on to victory with spirit not easily duplicated. Not only did the J.V. football and basketball teams benefit from the cheerleaders' efforts, but also the Varsity Wrestling team.

Headed jointly by Jane Thompson and Krista Tucker, they added a large measure of pep and enthusiasm to the afternoon Junior Varsity games. While gaining experience for future varsity years, the J.V. Cheerleaders were instrumental in urging their football and basketball teams on to winning seasons.

Build a Better Mousetrap

... and the world will make a beaten path to your door.

It happens all the time in our country. People with imagination and ambition can expect to be rewarded. Each of us has the opportunity to fulfill our dreams ... to get ahead by building a better mousetrap.

In America profit and honor are rewards to those who make significant contributions to our way of life. This is because we believe in Free Enterprise, the economic system that has given us the highest standard of living in the world today.

... And the Game Ends.

The game is over. You have reached the final goal for 1968—Checkmate! For some the game will begin again in a few short months; for others it is the finis as far as school is concerned. As you have played the game this year, what moves did you make that you can carry into the next year or into the game of life itself?

With the 1968 Buzzer, we, the staff, hope that we have furnished you with some of the reminders of the game that you have just completed. May these reminders bring to you only the thoughts and remembrances of the best moves that you made on our school's chessboard of education.

May you attain greater success as you move across life's chessboard from lowly pawns to the ranks of Kings and Queens.

Had to admit
To a real swell guy who really knows how to fix things up
4 persons week-end of booze. See up next
5/5 NIPS.

See YA,
Bonnie
Watson 69'

Good luck to a real swell guy.
Remember English class and Mrs. Gorman. Have a wonderful summer and hope to see you next year. Always,
Sybil
Dunn

David.
 Always remember
 our English class!!
 Try to behave this summer!! (that's impossible)
 Well. be good -

To a Great friend in D.E. Chris nice to know you. Be - have yourself at Carlonds
 M.K.T.

Wad,
 Best I had to a great friend and guy. Thank for all the B.B. and remember all the good times we've had and Bais's etc.
